- Cut your fabric scraps into strips approximately 1-1.5 inches wide and 8-12 inches long.
- Join the strips together using a simple whip stitch or by sewing them end-to-end with a yarn needle.
- Create a continuous loop of fabric strips long enough for your desired rug size.

2. Start Crocheting:

- Form a slip knot and create a chain the length of the fabric loop.
- Double crochet into each chain stitch across the row.
- Repeat Step 2 for the next row, working into the back loops of the previous row.
- Continue crocheting until the rug reaches the desired size and shape.

3. Finishing Touches:

- Once the rug is complete, cut any excess fabric strips.
- Secure the end of the yarn and weave it through the last few stitches to hide it.
- Optionally, you can add a decorative border by crocheting around the edges of the rug.
